

First Report Meeting Of Benedictine Tonight

General Chairman Elting Wants All Workers Present at the Armory Tonight at 9 o'clock Will Announce Results In Pledges Secured Over the Week End—Further Instructions Will be Given For Remaining Days In Campaign.

Philip Elting, general chairman of the Benedictine Hospital Campaign, has issued a call for all workers to be present at the first report meeting tonight at the armory. The meeting will be called at 9 o'clock and the latest figures will be announced—a very splendid showing is anticipated as more than a thousand men and women, comprising the city and county organizations were in the field today doing it for Benedictine.

United in the cause which has appealed to every heart in the community, the workers launched their effort Saturday and over the week end bent every effort to make tonight's meeting at the armory a second long step to the ultimate goal of $160,000, the amount needed to free the Benedictine from its burdensome debt.

The workers took up the appeal with confidence following the opening meeting Friday night when they were given a running start with $40,350 in preliminary gifts. With $42,500 additional gifts announced Saturday morning the campaign total had reached $45,200, considerably more than one-fourth the goal of the appeal. This sum, it was pointed out, was subscribed before the work of canvassing actually began.

Other preliminary gifts were turned in during the week end, it was disclosed, which it is expected will be announced at the armory meeting tonight.

Meanwhile the largest organization ever formed in Kingston for a charitable campaign expected to make a creditable showing.

Meeting at 9 o'clock.
The doors of the Armory will receive the campaign organization at 9 o'clock tonight, the hour set by unanimous consent at the opening session. Having taken advantage of daylight saving hours to complete their respective solicitations, the workers will assemble, eager to announce and hear announced the results in pledges of their week-end's work.

That the campaign was on in earnest was apparent from the activity in and about Campaign headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. building. Throughout Saturday and Sunday team captains and their workers filed in and out of the headquarters and poured over the master lists from which they selected the cards of those to whom they wished to carry Benedictine's appeal for funds.

It was estimated more than 250 workers, most of them representing the teams of which they are members, visited the campaign headquarters during the two days.

Continues to Render Service.
At the hospital, atop its hill overlooking Kingston, Benedictine continued to render its service to the community. There the daily routine was much the same as it has been in the past. Patients were treated, kind words spoken with a smile to the sick within the wards, ministering nurses and Sisters passed quietly from ward to ward in the duties they have performed during the past quarter of a century.

All apparently were unmindful of the united effort in their behalf being conducted in the city below. Yet there was a flurry of activity in executive offices as gladdening reports concerning the appeal from the hospital's many well wishers came in over the telephones.

Meanwhile the executive organization of the appeal under the leadership of Philip Elting, prepared for the remaining days of the campaign. Groundwork was laid for the four report meetings and for directing the activity of the city and county workers at full strength.

Mr. Elting, who lately has concentrated upon the county organization, continued work in this connection with the result that nearly 40 towns have been included in a county representation that will account for all outlying sections. It was estimated the county organization now has nearly 500 workers in the field under the direction of leading business and professional men in the various villages.

Many of the county leaders were in Kingston over the week end studying campaign plans and receiving instructions and materials upon which they will base their respective appeals.

Urges Full Attendance.
Concerning the first report meeting tonight Mr. Elting sent a letter to each member of the Kingston campaign organization urging full and prompt attendance at the armory. He commented upon the splendid attendance that has characterized former sessions and emphasized the necessity of a continuation in this respect to assure complete success of the campaign.

Memorial Service At Trinity Church

The Rev. G. L. Withers, Pastor of Church and Chaplain of Kingston Post of American Legion, Delivered Sorrowful Address.

Memorial services were held Sunday evening in Trinity M. E. Church and the address of the evening was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. G. L. Withers, who is also chaplain of Kingston Post of the American Legion. The Rev. Mr. Withers spoke on "What Price Glory" and the services were attended by over two hundred and fifty Legionnaires, and many members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Boy Scouts. Members of the G. A. R. and Veterans of Foreign Wars were also in attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Withers said that Lawrence Stallings, author of the play "What Price Glory" had left the question unanswered, but in his opinion death, destruction and disease were the answers to What Price Glory. Men were not only killed on the field of battle, but many are still dying from the effects of consumption, shell shock and other diseases contracted while fighting for the glory of their country.

On an occasion not wholly dissimilar from this, said Chaplain Withers, a clergyman prayed that if God would another war that He might endow the people of this country with the same characteristics of courage and self-sacrifice that the men of the last war were endowed with. Men of the American Legion, you have had your experiences and I have had mine; whether they parallel I do not know; but this I say for myself: it is blasphemy, even though it take the language and form of prayer, that attributes to God the suffering, the death and the destruction attendant upon war. We degrade the Eternal; we make of Him such a one as in time of war we are: vindictive, bitter, cruel and insane. We slander Him whom all peoples have called the Prince of Peace. If this world is a world in which all people must unaccountably and inevitably find themselves periodically engulfed in maelstroms of hatred and bloodshed then a merciful man might better have ordered the conditions under which man must live. A just man would rather crush it.

But, Men of the American Legion, it is not God that wills war; it is man that must bear that tremendous responsibility. Chaplain Withers said that because the American Legion was the largest single body of men in the United States that has seen war and because it is the largest single body of men that can speak with authority concerning the consequences of war, we must give every support to every movement originating in the church and outside of it that has as its goal the abolition of war.

Issue Renewal Licenses Friday
The local motor vehicle bureau will begin issuing operators' and chauffeurs' renewal licenses for 1928-29, on Friday, June 1. The present licenses will expire June 30. Motorists have been warned that no renewals will be made without the 1927-28 stub.

Instead of renewing for a year as has been the practice in the past, the 1928-29 licenses will be good only for eleven months. They will expire May 31, 1929. By beginning the renewal task now, drivers will have more than thirty days in which to comply with the law by obtaining new licenses. No grace will be granted after June 30 and those not having the 1928-29 licenses after that date will be subject to arrest.

Few changes have been made in the blanks for chauffeurs, but none of any consequence exists in the blanks for operators. Planetary transmission cars are eliminated from the lists of the chauffeurs' blanks.

If a driver has a chauffeur's license he will not be required to have an operators' license, according to new regulations. A driver having an operators' license may obtain a chauffeur's license without taking an additional test or examination. The fee for a chauffeur's license is five dollars.

Jury Says Mrs. Knapp Is Guilty

Former State Official Convicted of First Degree Grand Larceny On Second Trial—Sentence Deferred Until September 4 on Account of Her Health.

Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp of Syracuse, former secretary of state, was convicted of grand larceny in the first degree upon her second trial before Justice Stephen J. Callahan and a jury in the extraordinary term of the Supreme court at Albany Saturday evening, the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty about nine o'clock that evening, after having been out for three and a half hours, one hour of which was spent by the jurors at supper.

Mrs. Knapp's sentence was deferred by Justice Callahan until September 4, the delay being permitted out of regard for Mrs. Knapp's health after he had consulted with her attending physicians and learned from them that a three months' vacation probably would restore her. The physicians were Dr. Arthur W. Elting and Dr. A. R. Davignon, both of Albany, who had attended her throughout the trial.

Until September 4, the date fixed for imposing sentence, Mrs. Knapp may have her freedom on bail. She was in a state of collapse after returning to the Ten Eyck Hotel, where she has been staying throughout both trials, and her physicians have prescribed absolute rest and isolation, even from her friends, for a period of days. It is possible she may go to a sanitarium for a rest.

All persons applying for temporary or learner's licenses after June 30 will be required to file an application for a permanent or operator's license and to pay a fee of one dollar plus the learner's fee of ten cents. They will be required further to take a test within sixty days and if they fail to pass the test thirty days more will be allowed them. If the driver fails to pass a second test, the application and fee of $1.10 will be forfeited and the applicant will be required to renew his application.

HUNT BANK ROBBERS IN KANSAS WILDS

Scott City, Kan., May 28 (AP).—A casualty list showing three dead, one missing and two wounded today kept scores of possemen on the alert in the hope some trace would be found of the four desperadoes who disappeared in the canyons and thickets of this rugged country after robbing a bank at Lamar, Col., last Wednesday.

After four days devoted to following vague leads, possemes yesterday hurried to a cabin near Healy, Kan., when the robbers were reported barricaded there. The cabin yielded a party of hunters.

The tension under which the tired possemes worked was indicated Saturday night when L. L. Robinson of Hill City, Kan., and Carl T. Peterson, former sheriff of that city, were shot and seriously wounded by possemes. Robinson and Peterson were on patrol duty near Norton and drew the fire of a posse sent to that area on the report of a farmer boy that "bandits held me up."

ROSE CHARGED WITH FIRST DEGREE ARSON

Charles Rose of Jamaica was arrested at Jamaica Sunday by Police Chief Andrew Speenburgh of Catskill on a warrant charging first degree arson in connection with a fire that wrecked the Beardsley building in Main street, Catskill, the night of May 10. The blaze followed a fire a few days previous which burned several buildings in the business section causing a loss of $300,000.

Rose will be brought back today and arraigned before Police Justice Paul R. Morrison.
The building was owned by Charles Beardsley & Son, who recently retired from the hardware business and sold part of the stock to Rose and Kiva Munschik of New York city. The men were conducting an auction sale at the time of the fire. The fire was investigated following a report by firemen that the flames spread with great rapidity. Firemen also alleged that they detected the odor of kerosene.

LEGIONNAIRES TO MEET AT MEMORIAL BUILDING

Cars will be provided for disabled members of the Legion. Reservations for seats in cars should be telephoned to E. B. Carer, adjutant.

Variety of Cases In Police Court

There was a variety of cases before Judge Sheffield in police court this morning. John McCarthy of Bridgeport, Conn., was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of petty larceny in helping himself to merchandise in the Grant, Woolworth and Kroger stores on Wall street. All of the goods taken were recovered and returned to the stores. This morning McCarthy was sentenced to ten days in jail and the serving of the sentence was suspended.

John Barnett, a negro of 157 Abel street, was fined $10 for driving a car without a license.

John Albany, Strand fruit dealer, arrested for parking fruits and vegetables on the sidewalk in front of his store, had his hearing adjourned to June 5.

Thaddeus Wells, arrested on Super-bush avenue on complaint of Superintendent Edmondson of the City Home, was sentenced to ten days in jail. Wells is an inmate of the home but refuses to stay there.

George Rehner, arrested on Oak street for public intoxication, was fined $10.

Herman P. Craft of Stamford, arrested for driving past the traffic signal set against him at the Roundout Creek Bridge, forfeited $5 cash bail by failing to appear in court.

Six New Traffic Signals Installed

Expected That All Six Would Be Turned On This Afternoon—Where New Signals Are Located—New Type at Roundout Creek Bridge.

Employees of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation were busy this morning finishing the installation of the new traffic signals at the Roundout Creek Bridge. The five other traffic control signals were placed several days ago, and it was expected that all six signals would be turned on for the first time this afternoon.

A new type of signal is replacing the overhead signal at the entrance to the Roundout Creek Bridge. The new signal really consists of four units, one located on each of the four corners and all working in conjunction. This type is said to be much superior to the present type of the single overhead signal.

The five other new traffic control signals are placed at Broadway and Foxhall avenue; Foxhall and Hasbrouck avenues; Clinton and Albany avenues; Pearl and Wall streets, and Main and Green streets. All six signals are automatic and are electrically operated.

HUSBAND AND WIFE EACH GRANTED ANNUITY

Mrs. Susan Edna Heard and Edwin Heard of Ulster county were each granted an annulment of their marriage to one another, and both were found innocent of wrong doing, in an unusual case before Justice Morchauser Saturday morning in Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Heard has brought suit against her husband for annulment.

Some years ago Heard went away, and subsequently Mrs. Heard received word that her husband was dead. Believing this to be true she married a second time. Recently Heard re-appeared, placing Mrs. Heard in the embarrassing situation of having two husbands living at the same time.

The case was presented Saturday morning and Justice Morchauser found that neither party was to blame. So he granted to annulment to both the husband and wife, giving relief to both and finding both innocent. DeWitt Ostrander represented Mrs. Heard and Cornelius W. Garrison appeared for the defendant.

THREE AUTOMOBILES ARE REPORTED STOLEN HERE

Three automobiles were reported stolen over the week end in Kingston. Saturday evening Abram Woods reported his Ford touring car stolen from Thomas street. An hour later the car was found on Cedar street. James Amato of 2 Walnut street reported Saturday evening that his Nash sedan had been stolen from Broadway, near Cornell street. It was found abandoned early Sunday morning on West Chester street, near Augusta street, and was taken to the police garage and later returned to the owner. Sunday morning the Studebaker of Edward Noble of 162 Abel street was reported stolen from his garage. Later in the day it was reported that the car was down an embankment at Maple Hill.

TRAFFIC HOLDUP AT WEST SHORE CROSSING

A twenty-minute traffic holdup at the West Shore crossing on Broadway occurred Saturday evening when two drawheads were pulled out of cars, which made up a long east-bound freight. The break occurred at 7:25 and it was not until 7:50 that traffic could pass over the crossing.

Pedestrians were able to make their way over the crossing, where the train had been broken but automobile traffic had to be diverted through Cornell and Grand streets to the crossing on Foxhall avenue.

Missing Child's Body Found

Ten Years Old Girl Has Been Sought For Two Weeks—Apparently Had Died of Starvation—Mystery Surrounds the Affair and Kidnapping Is Suspected.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 28 (AP).—The search for the ten-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum, who disappeared from her home here just two weeks ago, was at an end today. The girl's body had been found, but authorities still were at a loss to explain the circumstances of her death.

Coroner M. E. Hayes and his assistant surgeon, Dr. F. W. McNamara, said after an autopsy completed early today that the girl had died from starvation and exposure and probably had been dead four or five days.

The body, found late yesterday in a wooded ravine near Salem, Ohio, 16 miles from Youngstown, was brought here last night for the autopsy.

Coroner Hayes said there were no marks of violence or indications that the girl had been assaulted. She had been without food for days and her feet were swollen and cracked as if exposed to water, he said.

Police had inclined to the theory that the girl had been kidnapped and then taken to the wooded place near the farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Lipiatt, where the body was found by the sons of the Lipiatts.

The coroner added, however, that in his opinion the girl could not have wandered afoot the 16 miles because of a foot deformity. He said she must have been noticed and probably taken to that vicinity by some passing motorist.

Police today, however, continued to follow up indications that the girl might have been kidnapped, held captive and left to die. Supporting this theory was the report of two neighbor women that a middle-aged man driving a battered roadster had taken the girl into his car the morning the disappeared two weeks ago today, the finding of parts of her clothing scattered about the ravine where the body was found and the story told them last night by the Lipiatts.

The Lipiatts said a small car parked near their home last Friday night and that its description tallied with the one of the possible abductor's machine.

Hundreds of Youngstown residents, including troops of Boy Scouts, searched every inch of the vicinity for days after Beatrice disappeared two weeks ago, but failed to find a clue.

Beatrice was mentally defective and because of this did not attend school. She was able to speak only with difficulty. She was known to have wandered away from home on several previous occasions, and it was believed she had done so again after the search of this vicinity and dragging of lakes in parks near the Rosenbaum home had been without result.

Senate Defeats Motion to Adjourn

Votes Against Motion to Adjourn Tuesday Afternoon—Vice President Dawes Derives Tie Vote by Voting in Negative.

Washington, May 28 (AP).—The senate today defeated a motion to adjourn Congress tomorrow at 5 p. m. The vote was 49 to 49 and Vice President Dawes broke the tie by voting against the resolution.

Previously the Senate had defeated two attempts by Senator Johnson of California to prolong the session in order to give more time for action on the Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

This leaves Congress without any adjournment hour for this session. When the vote for adjournment was announced, Vice President Dawes immediately voted in the negative and the house resolution was defeated.

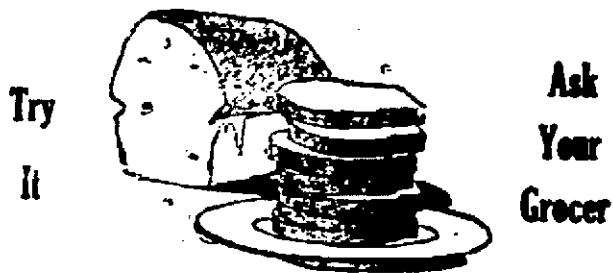

When the vice president struck the desk with his gavel, and said the chair would vote "no" his announcement was greeted with applause from both the floor and gallery. Mr. Dawes did not undertake to shut it off.

SAYS PROHIBITION MENACES TEMPERANCE

That prohibition is a failure that has become a menace to temperance is charged by Ida M. Tarbell, distinguished author, student of public affairs and a former dry, in an article which "Delineator" will publish in its June issue.

Miss Tarbell, who is perhaps best known for her histories of the Standard Oil Co. and the U. S. Steel Corporation, is convinced that the present situation is intolerable and cannot be sidestepped by the politicians when they meet in the June conventions at Houston and Kansas City. She demands that both the Republican and the Democratic party announce their intentions in regard to prohibition in their respective platforms. Repeal, she admits, is impossible today; but modification isn't and that, she thinks, is the one logical move.

"Modification," she writes in "Delineator," "would at least give a firmer ground on which to fight law violation. It would put us in a better case to use the appeal to self respect, and to try to win the co-operation of dissenters in working out a society of men self-controlled by choice. Is another form of temperance worth the name? Can prohibition as we now have it make any further contribution to this goal?"

The former magazine editor and Chautauqua lecturer speaks as one who five years ago was a firm convert to the cause of prohibition. In the days before prohibition, she says, she was continuously touring the country as a lecturer and "the only real terror that I had ever felt in this hard travel was of the drunken man who, not infrequently, reeled against me, leered at me. Not long after the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment I discovered that he was gone. Prohibition had destroyed him. Another heartening discovery was the new life among working people. No price, I told myself, was too great to pay for such a short cut to national temperance."

But today, she finds, the drunken man has reappeared and he has reappeared not only on the streets but on the trains, in respectable hotels, and in offices, not only in the East but in the supposedly dry South and the supposedly drier West.

Today, Miss Tarbell writes, "The situation we are now in is most difficult and trying for the great body of sincere and consistent prohibitionists who have labored for years for a national amendment, believing that it would put an immediate end to all forms of intemperance. If they are frank and open-eyed, and many of them are, they are suffering the painful disillusionment which inevitably comes to reformers who believe the evil they hate can be cured by law or formulas alone. May it not be that in attempting to force total abstinence on all men, we have destroyed the only approach we had to some men—the approach through the intellect, the self-respect, the conscience? One of the gravest questions forced on us by the revolt against prohibition, now assuming such unexpected forms and proportions, is whether we are not asking something from law which can never be secured except through human consent. Is it physically possible to keep liquor out of a country with a boundary line of water and land thousands and thousands of miles long when there is a substantial minority that does not approve the attempt?"

Today I am asking myself whether prohibition is any longer serving as a guarantee of temperance, whether it may not be that, having accomplished its revolutionary purpose—the destruction of the saloon—it is not actually becoming a hindrance to further progress and may not in a few years, if things go on as they are now, become a menace to the degree of temperance from choice which the country had achieved before the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted."

Midget Bibles

A Glasgow firm used to print many midget Bibles at the end of the last century, and some of the specimens are very valuable. One of them had 500 pages and 20 illustrations, yet measured but one and three-quarter inches by one and a quarter. Inside the cover was a tiny magnifying glass for the benefit of readers.

Kingston Trolley At Woodstock

One of the Kingston trolley cars was sent on an extended trip this week when it left the rails of the local lines and, mounted on a large truck, was transported to Woodstock, 12 miles distance from the city. The trolley car caused considerable comment as it was taken through the streets and over the county highways. Public speculation was rife as to whether the artists at Woodstock were to inaugurate trolley service in their summer rendezvous for the Maverick colony traffic or whether the acquisition was for the purpose of a moving picture property.

The car was unloaded Thursday near the Woodstock Garage by Albert Cashdollar, who was recently titled by H. M. Robinson, poet, as "mechanic to the world-at-large." Albert refused to tell what was to be done with the trolley car. Finally it came out that Ken Ormsby, former Sandwich Inn proprietor, was to use his new building for an all-night lunch cart at the Bohemian town of Woodstock. Ormsby is undecided whether a "pay as you enter" fare will be established, or not, for the new wagon.

Folks, you know that we're always open evenings, and it's customary for a lot of traveling men to come in and visit as while in town, as they usually meet some others that they know.

Well, some salesmen would bring some new faces, but we always were glad to see them and make them feel at home while away from their own home.

About eight years ago, one of the salesmen that sold us hosiery, brought a new face into the circle. He said, "Dave, let me make you acquainted with Mr. So and So—he sells shoes."

The new face said, "Dave, how is it you never sell shoes? There's a big call for them. Well, I answered, to tell you the truth, I never thought about it. He replied, "Dave, I'm going to send you 12 pairs of shoes, one case that is, and if you don't sell them, why I'll return them."

"It's a go," I said, and so he sent me the 12 pairs of shoes. That was eight years ago and to make a long story short, today we stock for every day use over 5,000 pairs of shoes—over 500 pairs of sneakers—over 1,000 pairs of rubbers, boots, etc.

Now we have to offer to our many customers something good in Men's Footwear. I have arranged with the Commonwealth Shoe Company, makers of the world wide famous Bostonians, for a special line of Bostonians, made on strictly new Kantronwitz modes. These will be priced at $6.95 to $10.00. Thursday, Friday and Saturday we will celebrate this event with a storewide line of bargains in Suits, Furnishings and footwear for the family. Introductory offer on Bostonians for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, ten per cent off.

Thanking you for your attention,

Dave

Kingston, N. Y., May 28, 1928.

Death for mail robbers is the new penalty proposed by the Postmaster General and approved by the House Postoffice Committee. But they will have to go pretty far back in history to find law for death for robbery unless it be accompanied by murder.

Although he believes tobacco dulls the intellect, Henry Ford likes the picturesque look of long churchwarden pipes and he picked up a dozen in London to take home with him, presumably not reflecting that this provided indirect encouragement of the "dulling of the intellect."

President Coolidge is said to be opposed to the Senate provision for publicity of income tax returns. He thinks that it is an improper intrusion into the private affairs of citizens, and that it tends to the concealment of income and lessening of government revenues. People do not like to have everybody know what their incomes are. The President and a good many million other people remember the unpopularity of the publicity provision incorporated in the federal revenue bill of 1924. It is hardly likely that the House will forget that as the Senate seems to have done.

Five hundred ministers were selected at random in each of three denominations and asked to reply confidentially to this question: "Are you in favor, in principle, of the organic union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches?" With more than half of the entire number heard from, the verdict stands 90 per cent in favor of union. Efforts to work out no acceptable arrangement for such a merger will now go forward more earnestly than ever. If they succeed, as they well may, it will be a development whose significance will be appreciated everywhere.

AN UNSUSPECTED MENACE.

The dispatches state that when on May 21 poison gas escaped from its container on the outskirts of Hamburg eleven persons were killed, hundreds became hospital patients threatened with lingering death, cattle sank in their tracks, trees shriveled, and during 18 hours only favoring winds and rain saved the whole city from destruction. More important than these disastrous results is the question as to why poison gas was stored so near a great city, and why it is being stored in Germany at all. And if it is stored there, we may reasonably infer that it is stored in other countries, including the United States. The disaster at Hamburg is a startling reminder of what the next war will mean to the civilians of the countries engaged, with airplane fleets striving to drop hundreds of containers of poison gas upon great cities as the most practical means of "breaking down the resistance" of the enemy. Here is fresh material for those contending that war is the worst enemy of the human race and provocation of war its deadliest menace.

But this is not all. The New York World sees reason to utter the following warning: "As the war drew to a close the United States was prepared for the manufacture of war gas upon a greater scale than any other nation. It is not likely that the War Department has lost the art. How much of this deadly stuff is there in the country? How much, if any, is stored in dangerous proximity to great cities? To what industrial uses are such gases put? For all that the people can know, we may be unwittingly inviting some catastrophe to which Hamburg's disaster would be no more than a curtain-raiser."

THE QUESTION OF SUICIDE.

Renewed discussion of suicide, and of the suicide pact, has followed the trial of Cecil Clyde Campbell. It seems that after attaining some measure of success Campbell suffered serious reverses until he found himself practically without a penny, and that after a distressful interval he and his wife decided on a joint suicide. The story goes that they traveled on ferry-boats for several nights intending to jump overboard, but were never quite able to force themselves to do so. Later the wife bought a hammer and demanded to be killed with it, and the husband, after hesitation, accomplished the deed. But this exhausted his nerve, or he found killing himself another matter, and failed to do so. Bringing to attention once more the serious hazards of the suicide pact confronting the party to it who expect to do the killing. Of course Campbell was arrested and brought to trial for murder, and after a verdict of murder in the second degree with "a strong recommendation for mercy."

It has been widely held that suicide, when not due to insanity, is the act of a cowardly shirker of life's responsibilities. It has also been held that much depends on the motive, implying that this may be either good or bad. If ever suicide was excusable, it was in the case of the Christian virgins outraged by the Goth and Vandal captors of Rome, yet St. Augustine in "The City of God" condemned it even in so tragic an extremity. Whatever the motive, it is manifest that suicide by a sane person is a form of murder, or a taking of human life, and it has been generally agreed in all ages that this is not allowable. At the best it is a violent assumption that one is free to disregard family, friends, law and religion.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

PERSPIRATION.

As you know the purpose of perspiration or sweat is to remove excessive heat from the body. The hot blood is brought by the circulation to the skin, and heat is removed by means of the perspiration which under ordinary circumstances is absorbed by the air, and there is no visible moisture on the skin.

When work is done there is so much perspiration that it is not absorbed into the air so quickly. You have likely noticed that different individuals vary in the degree of perspiration of the skin from the same effort, or due to same temperature.

Three men doing the same amount of work will show three different degrees of perspiration. A Japanese research man, Kuno, divides people into three classes. (1) Those who have little ability to perspire so that they barely sweat under a very high temperature, and consequently easily accumulate heat in their bodies. (2) Those who sweat in accordance with the needs of the regulation of the body heat, and (3) those who are always liable to sweat. Notwithstanding the excessive amount of perspiration in this third type, it has no effect upon the heat regulation of the body. There is more perspiration than is necessary thrown off.

Those in the second group are normal as the perspiration comes away in a sufficient amount to rid the body of excess heat.

Now of what use is this knowledge to you? The first type, those who do not perspire sufficiently should try to live in a temperate climate, and should not engage in heavy manual labor. If you can go into a hot room or factory, or on a very hot day do not perspire, you would do well to observe this scientist's advice.

If you are of the third class, one who perspires more than is necessary, it may be due to nervousness, or to lack of good physical condition. Systematic exercise may put you into the second or normal group. And if you are of the second or normal type, you may find yourself sometimes perspiring more freely than you should.

This may be due to some ailment that is approaching, or to a run down condition.

It would be wise therefore for you to find out by your own or your doctor's investigation, just what is causing this extra amount of perspiration.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Garden City, N. Y.—Therese Banche, German aristocrat, desires to pair with some good girl golfer and play two men or aerial golf, the kind where a plane drops a ball as near as possible to the right place on a green and a golfer holes out.

New York—Miss Helen Rentschel will uphold the reputation of the United States in motor boat races in Germany next month against men from Germany, France, England and Italy.

Autumn, France—What are laurel wreaths compared with a trousseau? Miss Suzanne Deve, No. 1 in ranking of French women tennis stars, has defaulted in a tournament here. "I am about to enter mixed doubles for life," she explained, "and must look after my dresses."

New York—Leap year doesn't mean a thing to Marion Harris, singer. She was asked if it were true that she was considering remarriage to Rush Bissell Hughes, from whom she was divorced in January. "I won't unless he asks me," she explained, "and he hasn't asked me."

Cambridge, Mass.—There's a mystery in the rise of beef. A cow was found on the flat roof of a five story dormitory at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The discovery came when students were noticed pulling grass with which to feed her.

Chicago—Carl V. Carlson, 15, is a champion airplane maker. His model, propelled by a rubber band motor, flew four minutes, 13 seconds, a record.

New York—American feminists will have an opportunity to get some tips from their overseas cousins. Mrs. Helen Alexander Archdale of England is here to attend political conventions and study the status of American women. Halide Edib Hanum, who fought in the Turkish nationalist army as "Corporal Halide," will lecture at the Williamstown, Mass., Institute of Politics this summer.

Portland, Me.—Baseball has killed sport. Bounding into the road to catch a long fly batted by his young master, Sport, a St. Bernard dog, was struck by an automobile. Besides playing ball, Sport used to watch the cows and pull George McKenney, 13, in a cart.

New York—Miss Lois Quantin Clarke, 18, banker's daughter, preferred matrimony to a debut. Her parents were planning to send her to a European finishing school when they learned she had eloped with John L. De Ruyter to Elkhart, Ind.

New York—Mary Hay, who has returned from the Straits settlements with her husband Vivian Bath, rubber merchant, expects to resume dancing and she has ambitions to be a playwright.

GRANGE PRESENTS WATCH TO COUNTY DEPUTY WEAVER

Lake Katrine, May 28.—At the regular meeting of the Grange Monday evening 100 members were present to greet County Deputy J. Wells Weaver and wife, Pomona Master Harold B. Story and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester DuMont. Brother Weaver, who had made many visits at Lake Katrine, did not attend in an official capacity and was thoroughly taken by surprise when, after worthy Master Parish extended a few words of welcome, called Brother Charles Van Etten, who is a charter member, to the floor. In a neat little speech he presented Brother Weaver with a gold watch as a token of esteem from his many friends of Katrine Grange.

Brother Weaver, at first at a loss for words, gratefully acknowledged the gift and said it was his duty and pleasure to serve the Granges of this county, and it was ever his aim at all times to uphold its standards. The tables were filled to capacity to enjoy the "eats" served by Mrs. Winant and assistants.

In the Lecturer's hour worthy Pomona Master and Brother DuMont were asked to say a few words, also Mrs. Weaver who is a member of the state committee of home economics gave a comprehensive outline of the year's work.

As it was Flora's night, Mrs. Dederick presented a very beautiful pageant entitled, "Mother Nature Tells the Story" which was given by the following young people: Mother Nature, Margaret Pinckney, Mrs. C. Auchmoody, Ceres, Mrs. A. Jones, Pomona, Mrs. Pierson, Flora, Herbert Finger, Vertunnius, Miss McCormack and Mrs. Dederick; Harvesters, Mrs. H. Young and Miss Cramer; Sowers, Willard Shells; Dance of the Harvesters, the Misses E. Nische, June and Natalie Hooker, Lucy and Willa Jones, Louise Clark, Marietta Riley, Louise Teeter and Helene Corra. Miss Corra gave a solo which merited much applause.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Brink and son, Hubert, spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kieffer at Rhine.

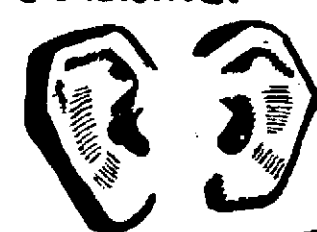

The dances under the auspices of the May committee have been well attended. Although the inclement weather and several other activities in the surrounding vicinity prevented a large gathering at the card party on Tuesday it was a thoroughly enjoyable affair. The usual visitors were present from Ulster Park, William Schryver took first prize and Miss Rita Cole consolation; Mrs. Tierney and Miss Buckley from East Kingston first prize and Mrs. Margaret Munson consolation.

There will be a rehearsal of the Children's Day program at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

VOTE INCREASE FOR SUPERINTENDENTS

A Kingston district meeting of stewards of the Methodist Episcopal church at Stamford was featured by pleas for better preaching and better care of preachers. The Rev. Thomas Bond of Kingston, speaking for the retired local and travelling preachers' fund, urged the necessity of greater generosity on the part of the Kingston district and the Rev. E. E. Hart of Peekskill asked for a generous and enthusiastic attitude toward the Summer School of Theology to be held at Carmel, N. Y., during June. The Rev. George A. Shahan, D. D., district superintendent, backed up both appeals with further argument. Dr. Shahan spoke again at the afternoon session, telling the assembled ministers and laymen that a "living experience in religion" is the greatest need of the modern church.

B. Clarke Sandford of Catskill was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization for the fifth year. Other officers also re-elected were E. B. Schepmoes, assistant secretary-treasurer, A. D. Rowell and Mr. Sandford, trustees.

An afternoon business session voted an increase of $250 in the annual salary of the district superintendent, raising the amount from $4,250 to $4,500. The Kingston district includes Methodist Episcopal churches in Greene and Ulster counties and parts of Delaware, Schoharie and Albany counties.

WILTWYCK CHAPTER DECORATES GRAVES.

The annual Memorial Day services at the First Reformed Church on Sunday morning was attended by a number of members of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in accordance with a custom inaugurated a number of years ago, and at the close of the regular service in the church, a brief service was held outside the church.

At the outdoor service, several selections were sung by the choir and assembled audience, after which the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boere, pastor, delivered a brief patriotic address in which he stressed the historic importance of the section contained within and adjoining the church property which had been hallowed, he said, by the lives of the patriots whose remains were buried in the church yard.

At the close of the service, in accordance with a long standing custom, members of Wiltwyck Chapter placed small American flags on the graves of the Colonial and Revolutionary soldiers in the church yard, including that of General George Clinton, first governor of the state of New York.

NEW YORK—In New York's most exclusive Houses of Dress, beautiful mannequins "model" for fashionable customers, costumes designed by the great couturiers. In "modeling," every detail of the effect must always be perfect. Underthings and hosiery, for instance, must always be beautifully new-looking.

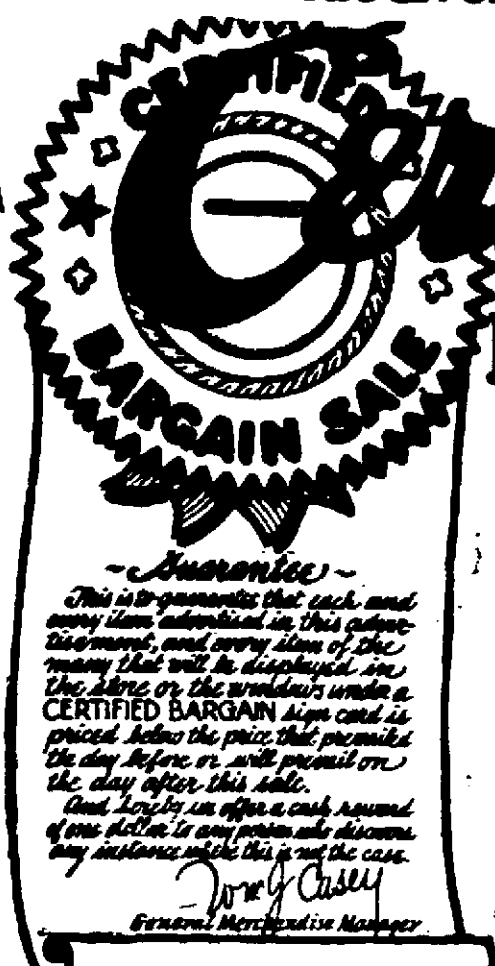

To keep these sheer silk and chiffon things like new, New York's greatest dressmakers—Hickson, Tappé, Frances Clyne, Bergdorf-Goodman, Hartle Carnegie, Stein and Blaine, Bruck Weiss, Jay-Thorne, Krumm, Milgram—all insist upon Lux for their mannequins' lingerie. They have found that Lux cleansing keeps this lovely lingerie and hosiery new-looking twice as long as other methods.

Federal Aid Needed at Once

For the extermination of destructive Gipsy Moth—Barrier Zone is Holding But Danger Zone to the East Demands Intensive Campaign.

Albany, May 28.—The campaign against the gipsy moth has got to be conducted more aggressively and extensively if this destructive insect pest is to be exterminated.

For five years New York state has prevented the westward advance of the moth from New England where they have destroyed millions of dollars worth of forest, fruit and shade trees.

In 1923, New York established a barrier zone in that portion of the state east of the Hudson river, and the New Jersey and Canadian governments cooperated in extending this zone a short distance into Canada and into northern New Jersey. Since the establishment of this zone, not a single new infestation has been found west of the zone.

Should the moths pass this barrier and get into the great forested areas of the Adirondacks and Catskills, they would threaten not only all of New York state, but all of the states west of New York.

At a conference of conservation and agricultural officials of eight states at Hartford, Connecticut, on May 21 the seriousness of the situation was considered, and it was brought out strongly that more Federal assistance was absolutely necessary to check what will become a menace to the entire country unless it is stamped out in the territory already infested. There were present at the conference: G. A. Smith, Superintendent of Gipsy Moth Work, Massachusetts Conservation Department; Henry Horowitz, representing the Commissioner of Agriculture, Rhode Island; E. L. Newdick, representing the Commissioner of Agriculture, Maine; H. L. Bailey, in charge of insect suppression work, Vermont; A. W. Osgood, representing the Department of Agriculture, New Hampshire; William G. Howard, Superintendent of Lands and Forests, Conservation Department, New York state; Henry L. McIntyre, Supervisor of Gipsy Moth Control, Conservation Department, New York state; Dr. T. J. Headlee, representing the Commissioner of Agriculture, New Jersey; Dr. T. W. Cuyton, representing the Commissioner of Agriculture, Pennsylvania; Dr. W. E. Britton, State Entomologist, Connecticut; and J. T. Ashworth in charge of moth work in Connecticut.

In New York state the campaign against the gipsy moth has been conducted vigorously since 1923, and last year the Federal Horticultural Board were so favorably impressed by the progress made in the elimination of all gipsy moth colonies within the barrier zone, that quarantine restrictions on areas within the zone were removed, thus releasing from quarantine about 4,000 square miles.

While the work in the barrier zone has been effective, new colonies of moths are coming in from the infested districts to the east of the barrier zone so that the work of extermination in the barrier zone has to be done over and over again. To effectually exterminate the moths, the barrier zone should be extended eastward as rapidly as possible. By preventing the advance of the moths beyond the west line of the barrier zone and working east, the total extermination of the moths would be effected in less time than has been spent in fighting them since they first obtained a foothold in eastern Massachusetts.

This can only be done with Federal assistance. It was the opinion of the conference that this work should be undertaken without delay and progressed as speedily as possible.

Gas Conference At Lake Mohonk

Even though the local gas companies are concerned only in the sale of gas to their consumers, it is their obligation to intelligently interpret the advances made in its use through the development of more efficient and economical appliances. This duty makes it, therefore, a function of the gas company to actively merchandise, and although this part of their business is often attacked, the public confidence established through the assurance of high standards in appliance design and efficiency is a distinct advantage for utility merchandising. This, in effect, was part of a paper read by Professor Herbert Dorau of Northwestern University, Chicago, before the Fifth Annual New York Regional Sales-Conference Friday at Lake Mohonk. The speaker also argued that the public is primarily concerned in the net value return on any purchase in relation to its cost. If a customer complains of a high gas bill, that customer righteously feels that his return on that expenditure has not measured up to the cost. This is a further problem of the gas company. By research surveys and statistics it must make gas the indispensable servant in the home—a servant whose wages are more than justified.

The next speaker, Merle E. Skinner, vice-president of the Mohawk-Hudson Power Corporation, and H. E. Dexter of the Central Hudson Gas Corporation, led discussions on merchandising practices, with particular emphasis on the compensation of salesmen.

"The Trend of Rates in the Gas Industry" was also reviewed by J. G. Coolidge, professor in the Harvard Graduate School of Business. Professor Coolidge indicated that changing methods of living influenced similarly changing marketing conditions for all commodities, and affected production, distribution, price levels, and all other economic factors which would naturally be included. For this reason the speaker pointed out that gas rates should be similarly kept constantly under review to insure a fair and reasonable relationship with respect to the general movement of commodity prices.

C. E. Greenwood, commercial manager of the National Electric Light Association, and E. H. Hunsfeldt, manager of the Gas & Electric Appliance Shops, Cincinnati, Ohio, discussed the important problem of cooperation between dealers in gas appliances and the gas company. It is imperative, the speakers brought out, that allied trades cooperation as affecting the distribution of gas appliances, is just as important as it is between allied trades representing other products. There is no reason why cooperative plans cannot be developed between the local gas company and the plumbers and other dealers of gas appliances in the community, the results of which should be profitable to each through an understanding of their mutual problem and an effective prosecution of an intelligently developed cooperative plan.

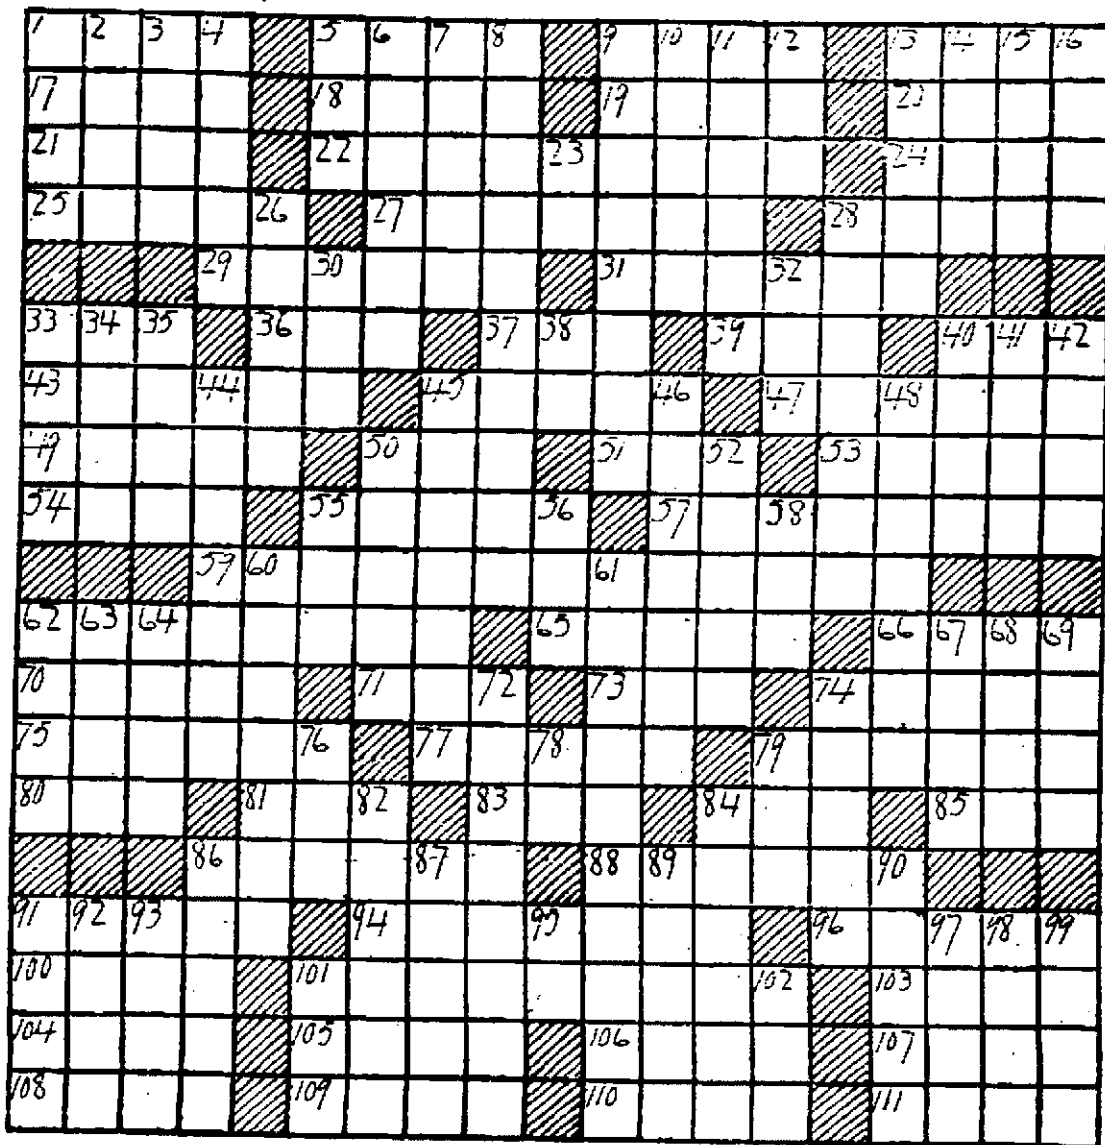

Semi-technical papers on Domestic Water Heating by W. C. Pierce, New Business Manager of the Syracuse Lighting Company, and Laundry Appliances by James E. Trainer, Chairman of the American Gas Association Laundry Committee, was followed by an extremely interesting paper entitled "The Human Element of 1928" offered by Carroll Rheinstrom, Director of Advertising Research, Macfadden Publications, Inc., New York City. Mr. Rheinstrom pointed out that the market of today is included in the wage-earner class of prospects; that the gas industry had as its untouchable market the greater part of the population who live in approximately 75 per cent of the area located on gas distribution systems. Never before in the economic history of our country have we had the present situation with respect to the spending capacity of the wage-earner class of people. Wages have not dropped to any extent from immediate post-war levels, and commodity prices have a situation which leaves a net spending margin for the wage-earner which is eagerly sought by all industries manufacturing products for domestic consumption. If you would then contact this market in the most effective manner, direct your advertising to meet the appeal of this class of consumer. Mr. Rheinstrom further developed a series of suggestions surrounding the effective composition of such copy.

"House Heating With Gas" was discussed by Thompson King, Chairman of the House Heating Activity of the American Gas Association, and "More and More Appliance Sales" by Colonel George Washington Hill of the Automatic Electric Washer Company, Newton, Iowa.

Every housewife knows that the best milk, no matter how highly graded or certified, has a bacterial content which increases amazingly if kept at a temperature even slightly above the point of spoilage. Science sets this danger point at 50 degrees. Naturally then, all milk should be kept several degrees below 50.

Frigidaire, automatically maintains the temperature found correct by scientists. Its cold, dry atmosphere keeps not only milk, but all other foods, fresh and free from spoilage, over a long period of time. And considering its other conveniences to the housekeeper, Frigidaire is indispensable in any home. Models from $195.

Buys Riseley Farm, Woodstock

The Riseley farm, located at Woodstock, Ulster county, consisting of 250 acres, was recently sold by R. J. Vosburgh, manager of C. S. McClellan & Company, of Mt. Vernon.

The farm has been operated since 1875 as a high class boarding house, and is 88 miles from Broadway.

David Reasoner is the purchaser, and it is reported that the Woodstock Country Club, which is being organized, will eventually take over the property for a golf course, riding academy, club house, theatre and building development.

The farm house, with 25 rooms and a dining room having a seating capacity for 110, would make an ideal club house. It is ideally situated on 12 acres, with lawns well shaded by fine old sugar maples, leaving about eight acres for tennis courts.

Across the Sawkill creek, which flows in front of the main house in cascades, is a perfect nine-hole green. Mr. Reasoner, who is an artist, has skillfully sketched this so that even laymen can appreciate its remarkable adaptability. On the opposite side of the West Hurley state road another plot of about 59 acres will also make a beautiful nine-hole course, thus completing 13 holes. Both tracks of land are along the Sawkill stream and have perfect drainage.

The remaining 150 acres is well located land which will make ideal sites for building, with extensive views of the mountains, among them Overlook Mountain, from which six states can be seen, as well as a view of the Hudson river from Albany to Poughkeepsie.

Riseley farm is at the junction of two state roads, one leading to Kingston, only ten miles away, and the other to Saugerties on the Hudson.

The property was sold for about 250 per acre and doubtless is the highest price ever paid for extensive acreage in the Catskill Moun-Philip Etting is handling the transaction as attorney for the Riseley interests.

How do you buy?

When you enter a store to buy anything, how do you ask for it? Do you call for the articles by name, or do you generalize—a can of tomato soup; a bag of flour; an aluminum kettle; so many square yards of linoleum; a meat grinder?

It is much better and far more satisfactory to specify the articles you want by name, for merchandise that is good enough to be sold by name is almost always better in quality, and usually no higher in price, than goods of uncertain lineage and less certain quality.

The advertising columns of this newspaper carry advertised names that are familiar to millions of people. Soap, flour, sugar, cereals, kitchen ware, rugs, linoleum, automobiles, etc. They represent those articles that stand for the best in their respective classes of merchandise—quality all through.

Advertising keeps these names before you constantly. Advertising is a constant reminder that the articles you want are the same articles that you see advertised day after day—that justify their being by the service they render. And advertising brings you news—of inventions, discoveries, improvements that keep you up to date.

Tell the sales-clerk what you want by its advertised name. You'll get it—and your money will purchase full value. It pays to read advertising and remember advertised names.

This army of workers, pledged to the support of Benedictine Hospital in its Silver Anniversary Appeal, is Kingston's and Ulster County's answer to the call of a worthy charity. Comprised of representative men and women, it has taken the field to do it for Benedictine. A total of $160,000 is urgently needed, more than one fourth of which already is subscribed. It is the community's debt of honor to Benedictine.

Industrial League Game Tonight

The Athletics and the Columbus are scheduled to meet in an industrial league game tonight at the Ashland Field. Nichols will toss them over for the Columbus and Ditzel will receive them. Spader and Finley will form the battery for the Athletics. Game called at 6:15.

RODENTS BLANKED BY PRO-JOYS OF NEWBURGH

The Rodout A. C. was blanked by the Pro-Joys of Newburgh, 4-0, at Elm Park Sunday afternoon. The Elm City team was held down by Jimmy Doyle, Rondout hurler, until the fifth when he blew up and allowed the ice cream representatives to rally their four runs. Ken Best took the mound after this inning and did not let a man cross the plate in the four innings he hurled. Oakley, the Pro-Joys pitcher, allowed the Rodouts to register nine blows, but kept them well scattered. The game was considered the best played at the park this season and a goodly number turned out to witness the tilt. The Pro-Joys would like to book other Kingston teams.

Ruby Beat Rosendale

The Ruby baseball team defeated the Rosendale team Sunday afternoon at Rosendale in a fast and exciting game by the score of 12-9. Features of the game were a home run by DuBois and a three base hit by Leo Stauble of the Ruby team. Regan and Wenke of the Rosendale aggregation also poled out three-baggers. The Ruby team has again hit their winning stride after meeting defeat last Sunday on the Hasbrouck Park grounds at the hands of the Blue Sox team. The batteries in Sunday's game: Ruby, J. Meyers and G. Meyers; Rosendale, Sasso and Wenke. The Ruby team has an open date for Memorial Day and would like to arrange for a game with any local team for the holiday.

Rain Halted Game Saturday

The rainy weather prevented the Centrals from meeting the Saugerties Bushwicks at the Athletic Field Saturday. The clubs will meet at Saugerties on Sunday, June 3.

Raymond Riordan Here Wednesday

On Memorial Day at the Kingston Fair Grounds the Kingston High School Varsity will play Raymond Riordan. This will be the second game of the season. The first game was taken by Riordan by a score of 2 to 1. The Highland boys so far this year have not been defeated and Kingston has only been defeated once.

Saturday Kingston was to play Newburgh at the Hill city but due to wet grounds the game was called. This is the second time the game was postponed and Manager Jacobson of the Kingston squad is beginning to wonder when the game will be played. Kingston so far has only played one DUSO League game and that was when they beat Poughkeepsie 7-0.

BLUE SOX WIN ONE-SIDED GAME FROM SPARTAN A. C.

The Blue Sox defeated the Spartan A. C. Sunday afternoon at Hasbrouck Park to the tune of 12-1. Nick Huber, the Sox hurler, held the Spartans to three hits, while his teammates collected 14 blows, good for the 12 runs, off Haeffel. Gadd prevented a shut-out when he scored the Spartan's lone tally in the eighth inning. Tommy Lewis of the Blue Sox started the teams hitting progress by a neat triple in the fifth inning with the bases full. In the seventh he registered a double with one man on. Other Blue Sox players, who had a good day with the willow, were J. Tomasek and F. Albright. Tomasek corralled two singles and a double, while Albright found Haeffel for three singles. But seven of the Sox were retired by the strike-out method.

Next Sunday the Blue Sox will meet the Rondout A. C. at Block Park.

Centrals Won At Millbrook

The Centrals defeated the Millbrook baseball team, 10-7, on the Millbrook diamond Sunday afternoon. The Kingston team got off to an early start by collecting six runs in the first and second innings. Millbrook scored two in the third and five in the fourth, which ended their rallying. The Centrals sent three men across the rubber in the fourth and registered their final run in the seventh.

Dewey Van Buren had to do the hurting for the Centrals until the fourth inning, when Jimmy Volker, scheduled hurler who arrived late, took the mound. The Millbrook team found Van Buren for two runs in his last inning on the hill and kept up their hitting against Volker, who allowed them to score five in the fourth stanza. After this frame Jimmy hurled a brand of slants that completely baffled his opponents. The Centrals made thirteen hits off "Foxy" Kaman, who retired after the third inning, and Hammond. Bob Stiekler led the sluggers with three blows, one of which was a triple and the others, two doubles. Pres Knight registered a double and a single, while Jack Robins was the only other Central player to crack the horseshoe for more than one blow.

The Centrals are scheduled to meet the West New York Red Sox at the Athletic Field in a double-header Memorial Day.

Service Sunday At Kingston Point

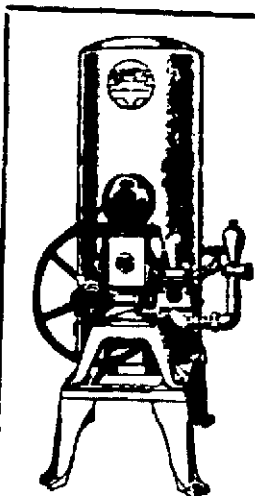

Memorial services for the sailors and soldiers dead were held at Kingston Point on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and were largely attended. The services had been arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 23, of Tappan Camp, No. 1, Post of United Veterans of the Civil War, and were in charge of Mrs. Eugene A. Ficker. The Mechanics' Band, who had donated their services, gave a fine and appropriate musical program.

The Rev. Arthur S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church led in the opening prayer and during the services Zaven Melik rendered several songs. The address of the day was delivered by the Rev. C. L. Whitney, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church and chaplain of Kingston Point of the American Legion, which was followed by the singing of "Howe on the waters of the Hudson" by the officers and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Invitations appropriate to the occasion were given by Sister Marie, Miss Sara, Miss Gage, Gloria, Mary and Mrs. Ficker.

A brief address in command of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and composed of Matthew Whelan, Joseph Mitchell, Asa M. Hyatt, J. Countryman, Edward Workman and Isaac Frowbridge read a volley and bugler Frank Pass sounded "Taps" bringing the service to a close.

You may be sure your ship will find you out. Also your kin.

Kingston Needs Two Hospitals

HARRY H. FLEMING, prominent attorney and treasurer of the City of Kingston Hospital, said today: "The fact that Benedictine is one of two hospitals in Kingston should not detract from the necessity of the community in the present appeal in behalf of the Benedictine. Hospitals are not competitive. They are essentially public institutions, maintained and operated for public welfare."

"They are not operated for profit but for community service, and one consequently supplements the other in a common cause. Kingston needs two hospitals. This is evidenced by the fact that both institutions are constantly utilized to their fullest capacity."

New York, May 28.—The rise of least resistance in today's stock market was downward. Although some stocks were in lifting more than a score of points and copper shares and specialties to new high records, selling pressure was quite persistent against the standard industrials and rails, many of the declines in which ran from 1 to 5 points. Trading was only moderate in volume, total sales in the first three hours running well below 3,000,000 shares.

Uncertainty over the credit situation was the principal selling factor. Call money held firm at 6 per cent as banks called about $10,000,000 in loans, and that rate is expected to continue over the month-end. Withdrawal of $15,000,000 in gold for export to England Wednesday had a tendency to check bullish enthusiasm.

Violent fluctuations took place in some of the high priced specialties. Radio was again a feature, rallying from a low of 19 1/2, off 5 1/2, to 20 1/2. Airplane stocks were weak. Wright breaking 13 1/2 points to 17 1/2, and Curtiss dropping 1 1/2 to 12 1/2.

Chrysler moved up more than two points to within a fraction of the year's high, but the other motors were heavy. Pierce Arrow preferred dropping four points and Studebaker and Hudson each falling back two points.
